Description: Now deteriorating, a large 2-story store. Central door between 2 display windows, covered by a projecting shed porch.

Historical Data: The McLeod farm was one of the most important of the rapid increase of truck farms throughout the South Carolina Lowcountry, and is one of the best extant examples of a turn of the century truck farms in the state. The farm began in 1884 when William H. McLeod and his son, Claudius E. McLeod bought land along the west side of the new Port Royal and Augusta Railroad. This building served as the store for the McLeod truck farming community. May have been built at the time of the Port Royal and Augusta Railroad in the early 1870s; a depot once stood between the store and the adjacent railroad tracks.
